Headwaters Mentors are Green River Community College students with a strong interest in helping students who face academic challenges.

Headwaters Mentors are volunteers who provide connections to the college community and help students with professional development and preparation for college life.

Successful candidates enjoy working with people and have a willingness to share their own experiences with mentees.

Headwaters Mentors can work with adult students in the GRCC Basic Skills Program (ESOL, ABE, GED) or with local Auburn middle school students.
