Working Group C: Educational Programs and Support Services

OBJECTIVE 1: Support student pathways and transitions to, through, and beyond at Green River College

- C.1.1. Adopt the Guided Pathways activities and framework at GRC. (Source: Equity Visioning Forum, Key Stakeholder Interviews).
    - o Resources: staffing, technology and time
    - o 5-year mark:
        - All students will be able to identify Green River's areas of interest or meta majors connected to their academic/career goals.
        - The college's on-boarding and advising model will be redesigned to provide holistic and proactive student supports from start to finish - to include at least 75% percent of all degree seeking students will have created an educational plan by the end of their 3rd quarter.
        - 90% of students will have had an advising appointment with their assigned advisor by the end of their 2nd quarter.
        - 100% of the faculty and relevant staff will have completed the Guided Pathways training.
    - o Measurement of Success: user survey to assess that a clear pathway exists and is visible on our Green River webpage; Institutional Effectiveness will track academic plans through CTClink reporting and student advising interactions will be tracked by student traffic reporting software and student satisfaction of advising will continually be measured through student surveys. Faculty and staff will be trained in a single location educational apparatus on the Guided Pathways model
- C.1.2.Continue to resource and support Transitional Studies, pre-college, and (grow) iBest programs, accessible offerings, and create clear transitional pipelines to degree and certificate programs.
    - o Resources: tutoring centers, Advising, peer mentorship
    - o 5-year benchmark:
        - An improvement of up to 25% more transitional studies/pre-college students will have moved into academic programs.
        - A focus group of students will report that they feel they understand the transition from pre-college to college. 100% of the students in the group agree strongly with this statement.
        - A focus group of relevant staff and instructors will report that they understand and are able to communicate the pathways effectively to students. They feel that the college system is setup for the students to transition. 100% can identify the barriers that have been removed for students.
    - o Measurement of Success: collect data showing the comparison between the number of students currently in these programs and their completion rates before and after adopting a Guided Pathways model; assessment focus group of students in these programs (in English or in other languages); focus groups of instructors in these programs

- C.1.3. Improve and increase campus articulation agreements, pipeline programs with local K-12 with an increased focus on serving under-represented student populations (King County Promise!)
  - o Resources - staffing
  - o 5-year benchmark:
    - An increase of 50% is seen in enrollments of students from under-served student populations. [Institutional effectiveness/research will set the vocabulary term here to match best with the data]
    - An increase of 50% in completion of FAFSA/WASFA
  - o Measurement of Success: data comparing the past and current number of students coming from feeder HS, specifically tracking the number of under-served student populations and increasing the % of college-going graduates from local HS feeders, number of completed FAFSA/WASFA completions of in-coming students from K-12 feeder schools.
- C.1.4. Improve awareness of, and increase number of campus articulation agreements with 2-year (BAS) and 4-year institutions, specifically in AAS, AAA and AAS-T as well as BAS to graduate. Increasing awareness of transfer opportunities for students.
  - o Resources – staffing, time to cultivate relationships
  - o 5-year benchmark:
    - All articulation agreements have been revisited and updated within the last 5-year time. Opportunities for post-Green River articulation to 4-year institutions are widely marketed to students beyond the AA-DTA and AS-T options.
    - An increase in agreements between AAS, AAS-T and AAA to four-year opportunities (and to 2-year BAS programs outside of Green River), and BAS to graduate opportunities have been created.
  - o Measurement of Success: data comparing the current articulation agreements with future articulation agreements; Student survey, on a Likert scale on post-graduation job placement and salary.
- C.1.5. Improve and increase Dual Credit / College in the high school program offerings to improve pipelines; decrease instructional barrier for instructor participation in these programs.
  - o Resources: Instructional Council, Instruction, Staffing
  - o 5-year benchmark:
    - An increase of 5% of successful offerings across multiple K-12 districts that persist on the schedule for at least 2 quarters
    - High schools can identify that student participation has increased by 10% and provide numerical data of enrollments.
    - An increase in intentional course offerings of pipeline courses to specific programs and degrees

- Instructors in these offerings can identify barriers that have been removed for them
  - o Measurement of Success: Number of offerings seen increased; focus group of college in the high school program instructors

OBJECTIVE 2: Streamline student support service delivery and awareness by engaging and educating students, faculty and staff

  - o Measurement of Success: 75% of students have an educational, financial, career plan by their 2nd quarter and 80% of students by their 3rd quarter; use the new ctcLink system to track student educational, financial and career transitional plans. Disparities with academic plan completion between student groups – underserved student populations is reduced (gaps are reduced between those with academic plans and those without) Student satisfaction and student perceived relevance with academic plans through focus groups and survey data. Tracking of academic plan updates made by students will indicate perceived student relevance. Disaggregate the data to ensure that students from underserved populations are being served at the same rate as other student groups.
- C.2.2. Strengthen quarterly student progress interventions - through various faculty, advisor, staff and student-initiated requests/referrals for help (advising, tutoring, emergency aid) through one technology (Super PASS / combined with Emergency funding).
  - o Resources - staff, tutoring centers, technology
  - o 5-year benchmark:
    - A product is available for students and faculty to request help - single product that captures data on student requests for help and faculty/staff-initiated requests.

    - 100% of faculty and staff can identify this as a way to funnel help towards students
  - o Measurement of Success: Survey instructors about their satisfaction score with the PASS system (past and present). Survey student recipients of "PASS" alerts on perceived impact of PASS alerts in regards to student retention. Quantitative measurement: Assess current process (faculty submission and advisor follow up model) on student retention rates (qtr to qtr) and GPAs. Measure usage (faculty), including increased use positive alerts/feedback.

1) Conduct biannual data analysis to define source of current funds, how they are allocated, and to whom (demographic/intersectional data). This data will be used to inform decision making in the annual budget process and will be used to identify gaps in needed funding and to ensure the decision-making process is equitable.
2) Ensure no additional fees/costs incurred for students.
3) Evaluation and assessment of grants to carry on support services for students within the annual budget process; consistently look at retention of grant once cycle is complete.
