CLASS TYPE DEFINITION

As you view the class schedule, you’ll see classes are designated in one of three ways: virtual, hybrid/virtual, or online. The following definitions explain the how each type of course will be delivered:

• VIRTUAL: Class will meet online at the time listed in the class schedule. For example, if your class begins at 9 a.m. in the class schedule, then it will begin at 9 a.m. on Zoom. You will be attending the class at the same time as your classmates, just as you would on campus.

• HYBRID/VIRTUAL: Part of the class will be held online without a set time to attend. The other part will occur at the time listed in a virtual format (e.g. Zoom).

• ONLINE: The entire class will be held online without a set time to attend. The class will still have assignment deadlines and due dates.

Payment is due upon registration. If you withdraw less than three business days before your first class, do not attend, or stop attending, you will not receive a refund. A full refund is given if the college cancels a class. Questions? Contact us at 253-833-9111, ext. 2535.

Member Rate: $29 (P120)

BLM has become an extremely powerful force for change in America. The effectiveness arises from a deep awareness of American culture and the tactics/triggers needed to draw public attention. Changing the historical and cultural attitudes of whites requires an understanding of white fears and changing demographics. Managing protests without being coopted by anarchic groups who are violent is a major challenge for the leadership of BLM. Understanding these dynamics offers the promise of insight and discern of a changing America.

Recently Green River CE asked instructor Sara Johnson to tell us more about the Supervision Certificate.

What are the 3 most important things a student will learn?
1. Self-awareness in how they come across to others
2. Interpersonal skills for work, community, home interactions
3. A group of inter-related skills that are beneficial in multiple industries/organizations

Who should take this class?
Anyone who interacts with others either in person, over the phone, or through “distance” communication. This is perfect for the person who wants to move up into a supervisor role either as a manager or as a team lead. This is also for the supervisors that want to polish their skills to be more effective in their roles.

Why do you want to teach this?
I feel that the soft skills are often lost in the hustle and bustle of today’s workplace. Many people do not have the skills to effectively manage conflict, communicate successfully, give feedback, or work together to solve problems. Although we often say we work in a global environment, we forget that our daily interactions give us the foundation to succeed.

How did you get started with this topic?
I interned with a consulting group and enjoyed learning about the development and conducting of workshops. I returned to school to get my MBA in Managerial Leadership and Small Group Dynamics in order to increase my knowledge and skills in these areas.

How often do you use these skills in your job?
Every day – any time I interact with others at home, in my community, or through the workplace. These skills are essential.

If you could tell students one thing about this class what would it be?
We have fun!

What have you learned from teaching?
How to relate the information to different students, industries, situations and make it relevant to everyone. I also encourage the class to share examples that relate to the topics at hand in order to create a community with shared knowledge who can relate to others and find common ground/bridges to build upon.

About Sara Johnson
Sara Johnson conducts business communication and leadership workshops for numerous companies in the Puget Sound area. In association with Green River Community College, she teaches two certificate programs, the Supervision Certificate and the Leadership Development Certificate, for potential, new, and existing levels of management in an organization. Additionally, Sara is very active in the Toastmasters organization, part owner of Snuggler’s Cove, a Washington Women Owned Small Business, and an assistant with Harmony Hill U-Pick Raspberries.

The Supervision Certificate starts again this fall.
